

Lifespring Clinic – Emergency Services

1. Emergency Services Overview

Lifespring Clinic provides guidance for patients who need urgent medical attention. Emergency situations are prioritized according to the severity of symptoms and the immediate risk to the patient.

- Urgent assessment is available for sudden or severe health concerns.
 - Patients with life-threatening symptoms should seek emergency medical services immediately.
 - Patients should bring relevant medical records and a current medication list when it is safe to do so.

2. Symptoms Requiring Immediate Attention

Patients should seek immediate emergency care for symptoms such as:

- Severe difficulty breathing, choking, or sudden respiratory distress.
 - Severe or persistent chest pain, especially when accompanied by sweating, weakness, or dizziness.
 - Loss of consciousness, seizure, sudden confusion, or significant changes in alertness.
 - Sudden weakness, facial drooping, speech difficulty, or other possible signs of stroke.
 - Severe bleeding, serious injury, or rapidly worsening symptoms.
 - A severe allergic reaction involving breathing difficulty or swelling of the face or throat.

3. Emergency Visit Process

1. Initial Assessment – Staff assess the patient's immediate symptoms and vital signs.
 2. Urgency Classification – Patients are prioritized according to clinical severity.
 3. Medical Evaluation – A doctor evaluates the condition and determines the appropriate next step.
 4. Diagnostic Support – Laboratory tests or imaging may be recommended when required.
 5. Treatment or Referral – The patient receives appropriate care or is referred to a higher-level emergency facility when necessary.

4. Emergency Preparedness

- Keep a list of current medications, allergies, and major medical conditions available.
 - Carry relevant identification and insurance information when possible.
 - Do not delay emergency care because of appointment or registration concerns.
 - If symptoms are severe or life-threatening, contact local emergency services immediately.

5. Additional Notes

- Emergency care is different from routine appointment scheduling and may not follow normal waiting-time procedures.
- Patients should not attempt self-diagnosis or delay professional care during a medical emergency.
- Lifespring Clinic may arrange referral or transfer when a condition requires services beyond the clinic's capabilities.
